

PROVINCIAL SALES TAX OUTREACH REVIEWS

Changes to this Information Notice are indicated by a bar (|) in the left margin.

This notice provides general information on the Provincial Sales Tax (PST) Outreach Review Program. Outreach Reviews are conducted to help businesses understand the proper application of PST.

The Outreach Review will typically be conducted at your place of business and involves a review of the business operations and accounting system to ensure it is set up to properly collect, report and remit the PST. On-site visits are an effective way for us to gain an understanding of your business operations and help ensure that you understand the proper application of PST and your reporting responsibilities. In some instances, it may be more practical to provide the necessary information by telephone, email or mail.

Typically, the Outreach Review is scheduled for a morning or afternoon and will normally be completed within an hour. However, we will spend as much time as required to answer any questions that you may have.

HOW CAN A PST OUTREACH REVIEW HELP YOU?

During the review we will:

- verify that you are properly registered and that your account information is correct;
- review the application of PST on sales, including documentation required for exempt sales;
- review the application of PST on purchases including taxable purchases (for your own use) from suppliers located outside Saskatchewan;
- provide information about other Consumption Taxes such as Liquor Consumption Tax (LCT), Vapour Products Tax (VPT), and information about the Beverage Container Program (BCP), if applicable to your business;
- confirm that the accounting system currently in place is adequate for the purpose of reporting PST on your business operations;
- provide information regarding our online services; and,
- review the Revenue Division's information services, including our free tax information presentations.

Outreach Reviews are available to all businesses operating in Saskatchewan and are typically focused on new small to medium size businesses.

The review process is not an audit and you will not be issued an assessment for any errors noted. You will have the opportunity to make corrections on a supplemental PST return provided to you if errors are found. Any errors not corrected and paid within 60 days will be subject to an assessment, plus any applicable penalties and interest.

At the end of the review, we will discuss our findings with you and provide guidance on the proper application of PST where required. We will also document our findings and guidance in a letter to you that can be kept in your records for future reference.

OTHER IMPORTANT INFORMATION

The Outreach Review does not relieve you of responsibility for errors that were not detected during the review but discovered in a future audit.

If a sales tax overpayment is noted during the review, we will explain the correct application of PST and provide you with information on applying for a refund.

The review includes an explanation of the procedures to file your PST return online and how to access any bulletins, notices and forms that apply to your business.
